

Anna Hodaj is an HR executive with line and consulting experience. Her areas of expertise include talent acquisition strategy design and implementation, attraction and selection, assessment and development centres, employer branding, training programmes development and facilitation, career coaching.

Currently, Anna is working with Motor Oil Group as the Head of Talent Acquisition. Prior to joining the energy group, she has been engaged as an HR Manager in a large multinational consulting organisation where she has been handling a large scale team and focusing on assignments across various industries specialized in Executive Search, Coaching, Outplacement, Assessment and Development centres, Assessment tools, HR Processes.

She specializes in the use of psychometric and assessing capabilities tools; Anna is a certified coach and practitioner in various leadership potential assessment tools. Her academic track record comes from Panteion University – Bachelor in International and European Studies and Birkbeck University of London – Masters in Management with a Human Resources management specialization. Since 2017, Anna is volunteering in the non for profit field as a Mentor and Career Coach.